James L. Frisch III

(248) 970-7067
jfrisch@zausmer.com

James Frisch draws on a paramedic background and diverse litigation experience to defend insurers and health care providers in injury and coverage disputes.

James focuses his practice on insurance litigation, with an emphasis on first-party no-fault auto claims, coverage disputes, premises liability, and construction matters. He also handles complex cases involving catastrophic injuries and death claims.

Before attending law school, James served as a paramedic. That experience shapes how he analyzes medical records, evaluates causation, and questions expert witnesses. He understands how injuries present in real time and how treatment decisions unfold. He has represented hospitals, physician groups, and insurers in both plaintiff and defense roles.

Mindful of risk, cost, and business objectives, James provides direct assessments of strengths and weaknesses, anticipates opposing strategy, and outlines clear next steps. He keeps clients informed through facilitation and case evaluation and has obtained verdicts in favor of insurers and dispositive rulings in fraud matters. Clients value his steady communication and practical judgment.

James earned his Juris Doctor from the University of Detroit Mercy School of Law in 2019 and his Bachelor of Science in Administration from Central Michigan University in 2015. He teaches a paralegal course at Oakland University.

Outside the office, James enjoys spending time with his wife and their three children. He follows the Detroit Red Wings, attends his son's ice hockey games, and is a great mediocre golfer.
