As a Shareholder in the firm's Insurance Defense group, Brandon Heintzelman brings extensive experience to each of the matters he undertakes.

After law school, Brandon began his career assisting elderly clients with estate planning and debt relief services through Wayne County Neighborhood Legal Services. He then joined a Novi-based law firm, handling first-party, third-party, premises liability, and property loss insurance defense cases. Over the years, he steadily built his own base of business through referrals from various insurers, mentoring other young associates along the way.

Brandon is highly skilled in all aspects of the litigation process. He has handled arbitrations, dispositive motions and appeals in matters filed in district courts all the way through the Michigan Supreme Court.

In his spare time, Brandon enjoys spending time with his family, enjoying the outdoors and volunteering in the community.
