Redon Ipeku's sharp analytical instincts, steady judgment, and strategic focus make him an effective advocate in complex insurance defense litigation.

Redon's approach to litigation is straightforward: understand the facts of the case quickly, assess risk clearly, and align strategy with the client's goals. This clarity has led to wins at summary disposition and successful defenses in high-exposure claims. In a recent slip-and-fall case, Redon helped secure full dismissal after exposing gaps in the plaintiff's evidence through depositions and briefing—an example of how Redon turns thorough preparation into decisive results.

At Zausmer, Redon focuses on PIP and liability matters under the insurance defense umbrella. He has appeared in courtrooms across Michigan, drafted several dispositive motions, and second-chaired trials to no-cause verdicts. He digs deep into records, works closely with clients to anticipate challenges, and shapes litigation plans that protect client interests without overcomplicating the process.

Clients trust Redon because he is honest, direct, and stays calm under pressure. He examines the facts before drawing conclusions and offers guidance based on likely outcomes. His experience in premises liability, first-party No-Fault claims, and third-party negligence claims informs a broad understanding of risk and liability.

Redon earned his juris doctor from Michigan State University College of Law and holds dual undergraduate degrees from Wayne State University.

Redon is fluent in English, Italian, and Albanian. He is also conversant in Spanish. He enjoys playing soccer and traveling.
