Jason Schneider is a skilled commercial litigation attorney known for his extensive and detailed legal knowledge, logical reasoning, and strong focus on client-oriented strategies.

Jason handles a wide variety of litigation, including business and commercial disputes, insurance, real estate, employment, civil rights, and general liability claims. He is able to translate complex legal challenges into understandable and manageable solutions. His commitment to legal excellence and client success defines his practice.

Jason's journey into law was influenced by a love for arguing and writing and a family tradition of legal practice. After law school, from 2013-2015, Jason clerked for The Hon. Jean C. Hamilton in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Missouri. His approach to law combines a keen analytical mind with a penchant for creative problem-solving, making him a particularly effective litigator.

Jason's legal strategy is characterized by meticulous attention to detail and a proactive approach to client goals, both business and legal. His work ethos revolves around understanding the client's objectives thoroughly and crafting legal paths that align with their business needs. This often involves complex negotiations and mediation, where his excellent writing skills ensure that client interests are robustly represented.

Outside the courtroom, Jason is deeply committed to his family, actively participating in his children's lives and community activities. While studying abroad as an undergrad, Jason played first-team basketball at the University of Leeds in England. Today, he channels his lifelong passion for sports as a coach of his children's basketball and baseball teams.
