Jennifer Serwach exposes fraud and creates case-specific innovative approaches to protect clients' interests as an Associate in the firm's Insurance Defense group.

Having experience representing both plaintiffs and defendants in these matters, Jennifer can develop balanced and thoughtful solutions for her defense practice.

Before coming to Zausmer, Jennifer worked at mid-size defense firms, where she gained expertise arguing motions and case evaluations, and conducting depositions for large dockets of no-fault cases, primarily focusing on SIU and staged accidents. Not only is she trained and certified as a civil mediator, but she is also dedicated to protecting and defending her clients' assets in the most cost-effective ways. Recently, Jennifer won an oral argument on a dispositive motion where the claimant had acted fraudulently, resulting in a six-figure savings for her client.

Pursuing a major in investigative journalism led Jennifer to a career in law, as she thoroughly enjoys writing, persuasion, uncovering facts, and exposing fraud. She received her Bachelor of Arts from the University of Michigan and her law degree from the Michigan State University College of Law. There, she served as President of the International Law Society and was a member of the Family Law Moot Court Team.

After law school, Jennifer worked at one of the largest personal injury firms in Michigan, but quickly realized her passion lay in investigating fraudulent matters, especially medical fraud, and transitioned to defense work.

Outside of work, Jennifer enjoys experiencing new cuisine in the metro Detroit area, but also likes quiet evenings spending her time creatively with various crafting activities.
